Baird-Kerr Nuptials

A pretty wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kerr on Monday night when their second eldest daughter Miss Henrietta was united to Samuel M. Baird. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Bella Kerr, while Andrew Cameron supported the groom.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. F. Hunter in the presence of a number of friends of the contracting parties.

Keystone Cement Company Locates

On Saturday last the subject of a new cement plant was revived by a visit of W. J. Budd, vice-president and managing director of the Keystone Cement Company. Mr. Budd came for the purpose of finalizing matters in connection with the site for the proposed works, and in company with Mr. John Ambrose, an expert builder, looked over the grounds on Saturday and Monday, and on Tuesday the definite site was staked off by Messrs. Woods & Steele, of Pincher Creek.

The site chosen is right in the gap at the east end of the town and but a short gunshot from the plant of the Rocky Mountain Cement Company.

The plant proposed will be of the most modern type and will equal in structural architecture and equipment any cement factory on the continent.

The building is being planned and will be erected under the supervision of Mr. Ambrose, an engineer and builder of vast experience. None but the best of materials and most modern designs will be used. A large number of men will be employed for the balance of this year and the winter months, to be strongly augmented in the spring in an endeavor to have the plant in operation some time in the 1913 season.

The new plant will have a capacity of at least 1500 barrels of cement per day, and will employ upwards of 200 men.

The plant will be operated by electricity and will be fitted with arrestors, by which dust will be conserved and utilized to advantage within the plant.

The properties acquired by the Keystone Cement Company are about the richest in Canada. Right at their door is a great inexhaustible mountain of limestone, shale, coal and other materials necessary for the manufacture of cement and lime, and that the proposition will be a paying one there is not the slightest chance of a doubt.

The capital of the Keystone Cement Company is authorized at $700,000, and we learn that already the bulk of the stock has been taken up by investors who recognize the greatness of the scheme.

Paul Gilmore was well received in "The Haven" at the Blairmore opera house on Tuesday night. This popular play has won an unbounded favor for the competent troupe in its charge throughout the entire tour of the past many months.

The big steel bridge over the South Fork river east of Coaley has been completed, the first train going over it on Sunday last. This bridge is 1900 feet long and about 250 feet above the river bed. The structure is one of the finest pieces of bridge engineering on the C.P.R. system and cost in the neighborhood of $1,500,000.

Passing of the Stovepipe Hat
Rugby after many years, has abolished the chimney-pot hat, and—let me of Mr. O. K. Chesterton's words be correct—Rugby may now soon become a nest of singing birds. For O. K.'s believes that the chimney-pot hat is inimical to poetry. The English loved poetry, he writes, more perhaps than any other people before they came under the shadow of the chimney-pot. And—can you think of any tall-hatted poet? Tennyson wrote poetry beneath a wide awake, and when he was made a peer, Mr. Gladstone was afraid that he might insist on wearing it in the House of Lords. What great poet have the top-hatted boys of Eton ever given to the world? Byron was a poet. But Byron was a Harrow boy, and Harrow has always worn the straw on its hair.

Before Miss Mary went away for her summer holiday somebody asked her when she was going, and how long she would be away. And this is what she said:

When it is the day after to-morrow I shall start a week from yesterday and I'm not coming back until the day before five weeks after a fortnight and three days before the day after a couple of days before I start.

How long will Mary be away?

Mary donned a wide-brimmed hat that became her well.

Then she said: "For places where people say 'socks' and 'modded Mar'."

Mary thought the people stared cause her face was sweet.

But the sweater and socks had declined to meet.

Tommy returned sobbing from school with a very bad blue eye. But I'll pay Billy back off for this in the morning, he said.

No, no, replied the mother, you must return good for evil. I'll make you a nice jam tart, and you must take it to Billy. Mother I told you, mother how you'd punished me, and she says I must return good for evil so here's a nice tart for you.

The following morning went to one hand and his books in the other. Tommy hastened joyfully to school, only to return in a sadder plight than the day before, saying, "Between his father and Billy, I've been sent to Billy's house, and he blacked the other eye, and says he wants you to send him a pudding."

THE STEWARDESSES

What Life Aboard Ship Means to a Woman

Many women are inclined to think that to become a stewardess on board ship is the easiest thing in the world; whereas, in reality, the work is by no means easy, nor are those positions lightly obtained. For the right woman, the life of a stewardess is fascinating to a degree, giving opportunities of travel which otherwise would be debarred to the ordinary woman; but it is most essential that only the right kind of woman shall attempt to take up such work.

Here love of travel is not sufficient qualification. The stewardess must have some practical knowledge of travelling, must be physically strong and a first-rate sailor, and, above all, must at all times be unfailingly cheerful and tactfully sympathetic.

The stewardess needs also to possess the gift of self-reliance, since, in a voyage passes without the stewardess being under the recipient of the confidence of those whom she serves. Preference, too, is always given to women who have had some hospital training. Our training at last makes this an indispensable qualification for their stewardesses so that it is worth while any woman thinking of adopting the work first to take a short hospital course.

The stewardess gets splendid opportunity for travelling about the world but this is by no means synonymous with seeing the world. During a voyage there are few people on board who have to work harder than does the stewardess, and she gets very small time for sight-seeing. As a sort of compensation, she has fine opportunities for studying characters, especially female character—and obtains a very diversified knowledge of human nature by the time she has taken a few voyages.

As a general thing, it is preferred only to appoint experienced women as stewardesses. The Peninsular and Oriental Steamship Line, for instance, only appoint women between twenty-five and thirty-five in this capacity, and this age-limit can be taken as a very fair average.

The pay of a stewardess varies from two pence a month upwards. There are, of course, no expenses to be incurred while sailing, though between voyages the stewardess has to keep herself entirely, since it is the general rule to sign on afresh for each voyage. Beyond actual wages, a stewardess makes a lot of money by tips, since it is the recognized thing for women passengers to reward the stewardess. The amount varies, but a stewardess reckons to make from five to twenty pounds on a single voyage.

Most steamship companies have their stewardesses dress in a sort of uniform, very white on duty. And, physically, full of an infatuation of all sorts of duties, and often calls for a great deal of strength.

The stewardess must always think of others before herself, and, whatever the emergency, must not permit herself to lose her temper. Lost temper usually means lost work.

Shades In the Sea
Although it is common definition to call anything sea green, most people hesitate between blue and sea green when asked to say the color of seawater. As a matter of fact, the quantities of blue and green sea water are pretty equally divided. By nature green, sea-water grows blue according to the saltness of it.

Thus, the Arctic waters are as green as the equatorial waters. At the Arctic is decidedly blue—though not as blue as the Mediterranean Sea. The quantities of blue and green sea water are pretty equally divided. By nature green, sea-water grows blue according to the saltness of it.

Equally unsatisfactory are the reasons given for the sudden changing of the color of the sea. As the shade, as happened a few years ago in the Bay of Santa Cruz. Red and yellow seawater is comparatively well known through the Chinese Yellow Sea and the Red Sea.

Various interesting reasons are given for the waters being such colors, but scientifically the shades are declared to be due entirely to the red vegetable growths beneath the respective waters.

Hate and Heat
That a hat is cooler in hot weather than no hat at all, is somewhat paradoxical. Yet it is perfectly true. Recently an enterprising gentleman experimented with different headgear to prove the exact veracity of above statement.

At the same time each day and when the full heat of the sun registered precisely 92 degrees, he sat for a quarter of an hour wearing each of the various styles of sensitive thermometer had been fixed.

In this manner it was ascertained that the coolest head-covering on record was a hat made from the best kind of Panama. The thermometer registered only 78 degrees. The straw Hamburg and ordinary straw hat fair to 92 degrees. The straw hat registered 92 degrees after which came the white felt Hamburg at 88 degrees.

The oblique sun registered 92 degrees as to the bowler and moribund's higher score of 92 degrees. Whilst outside the heat that shaggy ears were the tweed cap, policeman's helmet, and yachting or motorcap came in at a very warm 94, 95 and 98 degrees.

Life is real, life is earnest. Said the poet long ago. Which when put in plainer language means you must get up and go.

I am going to put some white in the yoke, and the young lady, referring to her gown.

Won't that scramble it? inquired the young man.

When culverts are washed out, and the road rendered impassable, he not only suffers inconvenience but may also be caused financial loss by inability to get necessary supplies in time for spring ploughing. And at best, with wooden culverts, part of the money that should be used to make better roads must be spent every year for repairs.

First Things
The man to propose the establishment of a penny (twopenny) post, a postal money order system and post office savings banks was Sir Rowland Hill, who died in London thirty-three years ago today.

The modern postage was born in 1795. His penny postage plan was suggested to the British Parliament in 1837, and went into effect in England in 1840. In the same year his money order scheme was put into effect, replacing an antiquated system that had been little used on account of expense. A stamped postage covers another innovation suggested by Hill and which, since came into use that year.

DIRECTOIRE TYPES PROMISED FOR THE FALL

are most at ease when gown in moderately clinging skirts. But in connection with skirts the latest sensational model in tailor made is the "jupes pantalons," or pantaloen skirt. This recent Parisian caprice has little in common with the erstwhile harem close gatherings at the waist line, confined by small buckles similar to those used on a man's trousers. At each side of the skirt is a pocket, and to complete the resemblance to masculine attire braces fastened by buttons back and front hold up the skirt.

This costume, needless to say, will be adopted only by girls who go in for extremes in dress. And the wearer of the "jupes pantalons," when sitting around at her club, smoking cigarettes, will look at first sight like a man in shirt sleeves.

TAFFETA COAT OVER LINGERIE FROCK.

TRAVELING SUIT FOR THE SEPTEMBER BRIDE.

THERE are two styles predicted for fall, a revival of the directoire types and the pannier modes—not, however, the pannier of olden times, but the new pannier of 1811, which is a strange rendering of the original idea. In many instances it looks only like an over-skirt that is turned over and fastened down around the hem—an inverted bow, as it has been called. Women have been so devoted to the new skirt this year, in fact, they do not welcome with any degree of enthusiasm the idea of being made to look like bolsters with strings around the middle, which undoubtedly is the silhouette presented by the ultra pannier skirt of today.

"Give us long, straight lines for our tailor made and we'll submit to drapery and hip effects for our less formal costumes," said a woman recently when interviewing her dressmaker about the ordering of a "few fall frocks." This opinion will be echoed by the majority of women, who look best and skirt of face except that the harem had the bottom of the skirt, while the "jupes pantalons" gives us the top of the same garment. This latest development is a skirt with a series of little

SOME "DON'TS" WHEN VISITING

THERE are girls who always appear to get more invitations than they can accept, and who are asked to the same houses over and over again, while other fair ones, so charming and delightful in all outward flesh, never by any chance receive second invitations.

The popular visitor is a tactful individual who has the knack of so merrily her individuality in that of the family of which she is a temporary member that she scarcely seems a visitor, yet she never makes the terrible mistake of usurping family privileges.

She is not late for breakfast or any other meal, she does not give orders to servants or in any way attempt to change the household routine.

When she is asked where she would like to go or what she would like to do she answers frankly. There is nothing more irritating than the "Oh, I don't care in the least" or "Whatever you like" reply. The desirable visitor exercises her tact, however, in this as in all other things and takes care not to suggest fatiguing excursions to a hostess less youthful active than herself or force a host perhaps not too well dowered with this world's goods into needless expense. If you desire to be a pleasing visitor don't be too anxiously bent on "helping." If you keep your eyes open it will soon become evident if there are small services you can render any member of the household.

But the girl who insists on cooking some particular dish or "doing the flowers"—in both cases requiring half an hour's attendance getting her properties together—is an unmitigated nuisance.

Don't monopolize your host's special chair or use his writing-table without his direct suggestion. Don't litter the living rooms with your possessions or leave your own room untidy. Don't, just because you are visiting, sit down and expect to be entertained all day long. Arrange to go walking or "write letters" in your bedroom for an hour or two a day.

Remembering these things, you also will be of the visitors whose visits are like those of angels, are not few and far between.

Worth Remembering

To cultivate laughter. A good laugh is better than medicine, as a rule. To always keep your troubles to yourself. Most people are too busy to be bothered with or interested in your sorrows.

If possible, to learn how to tell a good story and in this way amuse and entertain others.

To always try to look on the bright side of life. See the good in people and things and overlook the bad. We can always find something that is good, even if at first everything seems utterly bad.

If you are suffering, to try to hide your sorrows and pains under a bright and cheerful countenance, and, if possible, a sunny smile and a hearty laugh. It will help you as much as those around you.

That a good humored man or woman is always welcome, but a selfish one is never wanted.

GRACEFUL EFFECT

THE new scarf arrangements are really so elaborate that they become part of the bodice trimming. This idea, is carried out on the gown seen in the illustration. The long drape of black silk netting is studded with gold beads, and the length of the scarf is wrapped first about the bodice in sousie fashion and then brought from the back and twisted over the arms, where the long ends hang gracefully. Such a scarf is adapted to a great many different treatments, all as effective as the one pictured.

As to the best way of washing vegetables with water is the last word in carefulness. So if it is the water is above suspicion, but when water is not considered safe for drinking it should be boiled as well for washing vegetables as it should be for family consumption.

As to the best way of washing vegetables, a few cautions will not come amiss. Some people never eat asparagus at table unless it has been prepared by some one who is careful, as they do not enjoy biting on sand. The cleaning of this vegetable requires conscience as well as time.

The bunch should be placed, heads down, in water for some hours and should be shaken back and forth to dislodge the particles of earth.

Spinach is another vegetable which requires the very best attention in the cleaning line to free it from grit. After the roots have been cut off it should be washed in a number of waters and lifted out of the pan each time in loose handfuls before the water has been drained off.

Celery and lettuce and other salad plants, eaten raw, must be washed with special care. They should be searched with particular care, leaf by leaf, for insects, washed in several waters and then wiped dry with a clean cloth and put in a cold place to become crisp. Otherwise these vegetables are not worth eating.

Sure Cure For Dandruff. Pour over one heaping tablespoonful of sulphur one quart boiling water. Keep in an air tight vessel for twenty-four hours, then drain off the clear portion. Rub into the scalp every night until the dandruff disappears. While treating the scalp for dandruff it is advisable that one be very careful about the shampoo. The following liquid is excellent for this purpose. Having the scalp beautifully clean and the hair as fluffy as one could wish: Beat the yolk of one egg into one pint hot rainwater and add one ounce rosemary spirit. Beat the mixture well and use it warm, rubbing it well into the scalp and over the hair. Rinse in several waters and sit in the sun until the hair is dry.

New Christening Gift. GIFTS for babies are no longer silver cups and silver rattles that a nice gift, and at the same time a useful one, is a relief to find. However, it really is to be had in a box which holds six little pairs of baby shoes and two little pairs of silk socks, with one pair of knitted booties. These are arranged in a box which opens with a drawer. The little shoes are pink blue and white, and two pairs are shoes, two pairs are soft sole moccasins and two pairs are little slippers, so that the baby is provided for literally at "every step of the way." The little socks and booties are also in the box, and the entire set may be had for $14.

BE CAREFUL IN PREPARING VEGETABLES

IF vegetables not quite fresh are brought into the kitchen there is no hope of ever restoring them to first class condition. Even good vegetables will not be at their very best if not properly cared for after they have been received.

Most housewives think that washing vegetables with water is the last word in carefulness. So if it is the water is above suspicion, but when water is not considered safe for drinking it should be boiled as well for washing vegetables as it should be for family consumption.

A Delightful Collar. To wear with colored linen dresses a major collar of sheerest mull is most effective. It requires a half yard of material. After cutting the collar out finish the edge with an inch wide frill of flax planted net.

Cuffs to match may be made with rounded or square corners and edged with planted net.

If a touch of color is desired a few feathers of feathering which the net is joined to the collar supplies it.

IN THE CULINARY WORLD

Grapefruit Cocktail. Cut a chilled grapefruit in halves. With a sharp knife remove the seeds and cut out each section of fruit. Serve the pulp with the juice in fancy glasses. Two tablespoonsful of sugar and one tablespoonful of sherry may be added to each glass or either or both may be omitted. Another method is to take grapefruit juice or lemon and orange in equal proportions. It is then sweetened to taste, flavored with marshmallows and diluted just before serving with charged water and put in tall glasses with some of the grapefruit pulp and a marshmallow cherry.

Refreshing Beverages. Any fresh fruit makes a delicious drink at this time of the year when the juice expressed from it is strained, sweetened and filled with cold soda or aerated water. Or a syrup can be made to be kept on hand by boiling the juice with sugar. To make the drinks use a few spoonfuls of this syrup and fill the glass with water, plain or carbonated. The most delicious lemonade thoroughly and no more. Cover closely and leave for the night. Next morning add two or three well beaten eggs (according to the season), a half cupful of milk, one pint of sifted flour and as much more milk as is necessary to make a thin drop batter. Pour into a well greased shallow pan and bake twenty-five minutes in a hot oven.

Spiced Red Cabbage. Shave a medium sized head of red cabbage and soak for half an hour in cold water, then drain as dry as possible. Add the drained cabbage cover and cook slowly, then simmer gently for fully an hour and a half.

Light Cream Bread. In the evening put in a mixing bowl one pint of the cornmeal, a scant teaspoonful of salt, a tablespoonful of

with sugar. To make the drinks use a few spoonfuls of this syrup and fill the glass with water, plain or carbonated. The most delicious lemonade thoroughly and no more. front and about the planting arrangement. This scarf with buttons and close together follow the line of plights. White satin shirts have small crystal buttons, and a fascinating trick played by this new shirt is the opening, for three or four buttons below the flower collar, a shirred tucker of black chiffon being worn in the opening. This gives the waist an unusual appearance, and is very much to the effect is "taken."

To come back to skirts once more, there is every reason to believe that plaits will be introduced in the straight, narrow skirt made models. Some of the plaits appear in a panel arrangement at the side and others as a back finish, but in every instance they are pressed or stitched very flat, and the skirt does not measure more than two and a half yards about the bottom. For dressier costumes the accordion plaited jupe is seen even now on imported frocks and in its new guise is scant and clinging. Then there is the plaited undershirt, almost a ruff effect at the bottom of a skirt, extending about two feet deep, with a panner or tunic drapery at the top, that is a very favorite style just now. It is a particularly good model for silk and thin materials.

One of the newest fashions for late summer and early fall combines three or more materials in a gown and always two or more colors. The lingerie frock seen in the illustration, with its dark taffeta coat, is an example of contrasts in fabric, while the blue serge illustrated is a study in color effects. Very simple in line is the coat of green and gold taffeta worn above a frock of cream net. The coat is almost a straight tunic, with the Magyars sleeves cut in one with the garment, but the exaggerated collar and cuffs in rich shiny lace lend it much distinction. Rows of tiny green glass buttons are set on the lace as an extra trimming touch. This is a French creation and accompanies a lovely lingerie frock of net and lace. The skirt only appears in the cut.

The colonial colors, navy blue and buff, are represented in the dainty little autumn traveling suit with navy blue serge designed for a September bride. The coat is gracefully cut, and the walking skirt is short enough to reveal buttoned boots of dull calf.

Among the illustrations is to be found a type of the directoire costumes that are promised for fall. As you see, it is the masculine rather than the feminine dress of the directoire period that has inspired autumn fashions. This suit is of white broadcloth, and the directoire coat is worn with a belt of empire green leather. Embroidered white silk gloves and short enough to reveal buttoned boots of dull calf.

CATHERINE TALBOT.

Butterfly Effects

THERE is at present a craze for butterfly effects. The design flutters on parasol tops, on smart collars and is worked in wonderful iridescent effects on the new trimmings. The winter favorite is used also as shoe buckles, brooches, cuffcase ornaments, and beautiful designs are seen in enamel and small diamonds. Black satin and velvet butterfly bows edged with brilliant or colored stones are lovely. The material is slipped into a frame, and thus any color can be added to the diamond's trimmed bow.

THE OCEAN TEA PARTY

MISS NICOLL AND HER FRIENDS DRINKING AFTERNOON TEA.

THE very latest at the seashore is the ocean tea party. The very original idea of entertaining friends in this unique fashion was conceived by Miss Charlotte Van Courland Nicoll, a New York society girl, niece of De Lancey Nicoll, the famous lawyer.

Miss Nicoll, who is spending the summer at Long Beach, N. Y., is an accomplished swimmer. Finding that this fascinating sport increased her appetite to such an extent while in the water that she was obliged to satisfy the "inner woman" before returning to the hotel, the idea presented itself of having afternoon tea served in the ocean.

Miss Nicoll outlined her idea to the local carpenter, who built a seaworthy craft with a high poop deck to hold the chairs and a continuous deck area forward and midships for plates of sandwiches and cakes.

The making of such an ocean going craft is quite within the province of the amateur carpenter with a turn for nautical construction.

This party proved such a success that the fair hostess issued invitations for an "ocean tea" every Friday during August at 4 p. m.

Criminal Assizes

At Macleod
The court of criminal jurisdiction opened at Macleod last week with a long docket of criminal charges to be discussed before His Lordship Chief Justice Harvey.

In the early part of the week
several cases of minor importance were disposed of.

James was acquitted on Wednesday by jury, on the charge of murder, but was given suspended sentence on this charge.

On Thursday, the case against Thomas Marsh, of Bellevue, on the charge of perjury, came up for hearing. Marsh was charged at the instance of Sergt. Boxer, of the R.
N.W.M.P., with having on a previous date at Bellevue made use of a false statement while under oath,
with intent to mislead justice.

A jury was summoned at the request of Marsh. Several crown witnesses were examined, as also several witnesses for the accused. The case occupied the greater part of the day, and in spite of Marsh's pleading "not guilty," the jury returned at 3 p.m., after but a 30-minute session, with a verdict of
"guilty."

Before the jury repaired to their room they were addressed by Mr. Brokover, crown prosecutor,
Mr. Palmer, the defense lawyer, and finally by His Lordship. The latter joined out the seriousness of the charge brought against the prisoner, stating that while the allegation in question was confined to have been made more through the act of joking than with a real intent to mislead justice, still such a practice could not be tolerated and that no other verdict was reasonable to expect than that of
"guilty."

The sentence in this case has not yet been delivered.

On Thursday afternoon the case against Thomas Egan, an ex-contractor with the C.N.R. for "forgery" and "sufficiency" came up for hearing. At Egan's request a jury was summoned. Egan was charged with having in December last forged a legal document or cheque by having altered the date from December 4th to 14th and the figures $7.10 to $70.10. Also the second charge of passing or cashing a document, knowing same to have been forged and worthless.

Several witnesses were called by the crown, some of whom deposed deftly as to the change in the date and the marginal figures. One Thomas Lawson, the maker of the document, and bookkeeper for O'Connor & Sullivan, at the time the cheque came into existence, testified to having made out the cheque with the date December 4 and marginal figures for $7.10, while he admitted having later noticed that through an error of his own the body lines of the document contained the words
"Seventy-Dollars and Ten Cents"
instead of the $7.10.

The cheque in question was issued by Lawson on behalf of O'Connor & Sullivan, in favor of Mrs. Russell and in payment for supplies obtained by Thomas Egan. The amount of Mrs. Russell's account was $8.10 being payment for 30 pounds of butter at 27 cent per pound, so that an apparent error occurred in the first making of the document. The cheque was sent Mrs. Russell, who afterwards noticed the mistakes and took it back to Egan for rectification. Egan gave Mrs. Russell $8.10 cash for the cheque and a endorsed later and cashed it at the Canadian Bank of Commerce
at Macleod for the sum of $70.10.

Three lawyers defended Egan on the case, Messrs. Stewart, Palmer and Gray. Mr. Stewart made a very strong plea on behalf of his client, his remarks covering nearly three quarters of an hour.

After dinner the jury were addressed by crown prosecutor Brokover and His Lordship, after which they retired. They returned to the court room a half-hour later and declared through their foreman, Mr. Lancaster, that they

Mr. John Smith

Seriously Ill
Word was received in Blairmore
on Tuesday of the serious illness of Mr. John Smith at Ladysmith.
H.C. Mr. Smith was for many years a resident of Blairmore, and but last spring left for Dauphin, Manitoba, where his youngest son
Walter was engaged in farming.

Since then Mr. and Mrs. Smith have moved down to the Pacific Coast with their daughter, Mrs.
Herbert Hargreaves.

John Smith, the eldest son, who is manager of the Trilite-Woods stores at Coal Creek, left Period
for the coast on Tuesday morning.
From last advices very little hope was entertained for Mr. Smith's recovery.

Information Wanted

A year or two ago, a man by the name of W.E. Edwards, representing a firm known as the Kootenay
Fruit Land Syndicate, of whom Hillingsworth & Muriel, of Vancouver, were agents, canvassed the Crows' Nest Pass district, selling stock or fruit lands. Quite a number of people in The Pass were duped to invest their surplus capital in the concern, and now man of them fear that they were the victims of a fakir. The name of the company has since been changed to the Fire Valley Orchard, Limited, under which the firm organization is now known. A movement towards investigation is now on foot, and it is requested that all those who figured with the concern,
send their names and particulars
to Drawer E, Blairmore, Alta.

Here is a woman who speaks from personal knowledge and long experience, viz. Mrs. P.H. Hogan, of Wilton, Pa., who says: "I know from experience that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is far superior to any other for coughs there is nothing that exceeds it." For sale by all dealers.

A Million Dollars Saved

The annual replacement of crosses in Canadian railway lines is about 10,000,000, according to statistics compiled by the Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior. The average life of a tie, i.e., seven years,
could be prolonged to seventeen years if proper preservative treatment were adopted, and an annual saving of $50 million feet, board measure, of timber, could be effected. This is equivalent to three years' of one of the largest mills in the country.

While the initial expense of creosot-ing would bring the cost per tie
from 88 to 93 cents it would save $1-60,000 annually.

Since 1910 two timber treating plants have been established, treating in 1911, 205,239 ties, or 1.5 per cent of the total cut.

The number of ties purchased in the Dominion in 1911 was 13,283, 770, an increase of 4,469,808, or 48.5 per cent over 1910.

The rapid development of railways in the Western Provinces is largely responsible for this increase.

Eighteen kinds of wood were used,
Jack pine, with 43 per cent; tamarack, with 13 per cent; Douglas fir (used in a very great extent in new electric lines in British Columbia)

With 14 per cent, and hemlock, with 12 per cent, were the leaders. A remarkable change is that of cedar, increasing from 40 per cent to 5.4 per cent of the total.

Good Publicity for Lethbridge

Lethbridge, Alta.—As the date approaches for the convening of the International Dry-Farming congress
at Lethbridge this month, the faithful work of the publicity bureau of the congress is coming in for wide commendation. For months past the bureau has been supplying gratis
a regular weekly service sent out to leading newspapers in Lethbridge in all parts of the world. As pointed out by the organizers of the congress,
this movement is calculated to promote and disseminate the knowledge of better farming methods not only locally but among enterprising farmers everywhere who choose to avail themselves of the information guided by the congress.

Happenings in and Around Bellevue

Nurse Fraser, who had been in town for some time, assisting Dr. McKenzie, left for Medicine Hat this week.

The new building for the Union Bank of Canada is nearing completion and is a fine addition to the town.

George Copeland, who has been in town for some time, has resigned his position as fire boss and gone east to Lethbridge.

A memorial service will be held some time in November, in memory of the men who were killed by the explosion of 1910.

Rev. J. E. Hunter, of the central Baptist church, Blairmore, occupied the pulpit at the Methodist church here on Sunday night.

Joseph McGuff has received word that he has been successful in securing a fire-loss pass as a result of the recent examinations at Frank.

Quite a number of the Bellevue boys went to Macleod last week to take in the celebration in honor of T. R. H. the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall.

The school trustees have got busy at last and are now calling for tenders for a four-roomed school, which they expect to have completed before the winter weather sets in.

Winnie, the little daughter of John and Mrs. Oliphant, died on Sunday last. It is understood that the little girl picked and ate some poisonous berries, with fatal results. The remains were laid to rest at the Hillcrest cemetery, Rev. W. Young officiating. The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Oliphant extend to them their heartfelt sympathy.

Hillcrest Jottings

W. Hudson, of the department of mines Ottawa was in Hillcrest on Saturday last gathering information for the compilation of a new contour and geographical map of the Crow's Nest Pass coal field.

Wm. Hutchison, formerly the civil engineer for the coal company here is in town once again visiting his old friends and expatiating on the virtues of his holdings on the main line.

H. J. Cunningham, lately the manager of the Union hotel at Hillcrest, was in town for several days during the week receiving old acquaintances and attending to business in connection with the transfer of his lease to the present proprietor.

John O. Jones was a visitor to Hillcrest during the week straightening up affairs connected with the United Mine Workers of America. Mr. and Mrs. Jones left for Lethbridge on Thursday morning where he had been commanded to lunch with T. R. H. Frank J. Smith accompanied him and returned on Friday evening's train reporting that the Dock wasn't charged a bit.

The long delayed medals for the team that fought Burns here to be sporty have at last arrived and secretary Fletcher is busy distributing them among their rightful owners. The medal is an artistic affair of solid gold with a Roman finish. It is quite a treat to see a decent medal once again after the giving-free-with-a-pound-of-ten-trinkets-a-champion-team usually get as their reward for a season's hard work.

A collection was taken up in and around the mine in aid of Charles Beaver who has certainly had some hard luck. At the present time it is doubtful if he will be able to work again as he is suffering from paralysis of the feet, a disease common among stone-masons which Charles Beaver has followed practically all his life.

The amount collected totaled over one hundred and fifty dollars and will materially assist this deserving unfortunate and his family through the coming winter.

The Bellevue miners have challenged the Hillcrest miners to play a football game for the usual stakes on Thanksgiving Day. Needless to say this challenge was immediately taken up and despite the enviable reputation the Bellevue team has honestly earned, the booster from Hillcrest will be seeing the time in the hopes of seeing their team come out on top. While Hillcrest has recently lost two or three of their crack players several well known players have recently shifted the reins of their labors to this

Happenings in and Around Frank

Seventeen cottages of the coal company have been moved to the new site under the supervision of Thomas Scott of Pincher Creek.

The Crow's Nest Coal Company this week finished installing the heating and plumbing in the Union Bank at Bellevue. The firm will start work on the Passburg school in a few days also putting in a steam heating plant.

C. W. Palmer, of Butte, Mont., arrived in Frank the first of the week. Mr. Palmer has the contract for moving the business houses of this place to the new site close to the plantorium. It is reported that Mr. Palmer will immediately start work moving the balance of the town.

The government crew of road builders who have been working in this vicinity for the past month fixing up the roads between Landbreck and Crow's Nest have certainly done an excellent piece of work on the east approach of the slide. But thus far there has been no work started on the poorest piece of road in the Crow's Nest Pass and which is needed the most way—the Frank slide. From Frank to the Crow's Nest the road is very fine and also to the east of here and when the road is put in condition over the slide it will be the finest in Southern Alberta.

Little town and while it is impossible to forecast the ultimate result of the game it is certain that this match, probably the last of the season, will be well worth while watching.

At a meeting of the trustees of the district school District No. 1, H. Marshall, in the intervals between classes, is presiding over his Sunday school of the latter Day Saints in his tabernacle near the tipple, has been busy sending out notices to all holding property in this large to come and sit down.

C. E. Gordon, the millionaire President of the Hillcrest Collieries Limited in company with J. M. Mackie, the managing-director of the same company, both of Montreal, were in Hillcrest last week inspecting their property here. During their stay they were down over the mine and from the way they got over the ground might have been accustomed to it all their lives. Mr. Gordon left for Calgary on Thursday evening's train while Mr. Mackie stayed over and took the Monday morning train through to Spokane.

The proposed skating rink for Hillcrest looks like becoming an accomplished fact before very long. About three hundred dollars has already been subscribed and although this is not considered sufficient to finance the rink for the whole winter by dint of putting on a few hockey games and carnivals we believe that no one will be out of pocket next spring.

In connection there is a rumor that if Hillcrest gets a hockey team going a league will be formed along the same lines as the one in force last year. We understand that Pincher will not enter a team and that the teams will come from Coleman, Blairmore, Bellevue and Hillcrest. Up to the present there has been nothing done towards forming a skating club in any of the small towns lying east of Bellevue and Hillcrest, which is a pity, as the more teams entering the league necessarily makes the games of greater interest to everyone. Come on in and get your feet wet.

Having recovered completely from the grand celebration held in honor of the presentation of the Burns' Cup to the Hillcrest Football Club we again feel capable of conversing through the medium of the Hillcrest & Burns Times with our friends the enemy of fair play at the foot of the mountain, who are a disgrace to the town to which we went as previously stated solely with the hope of seeing that much talked about and over-rated animal, the pig, we noticed one hoary headed old hyena, who, a disgusting grin and a playful stare, when we imagined might possibly be none other than Mr. President himself especially near the after-presentation discussion of the Burns' Cup. The pig's snouts of all this and this warning of the fruits of overindulgence. Better climb on again old boy if you don't know when its time to take a smoke instead.
